Professional Learning:

Score

1 2 3 4

Professional Learning includes sufficient time, support, and 'safe practice' space to internalize new knowledge to change practice and beliefs. Adults persevere in collaboration with their colleagues to innovate and improve implementation of new practices.

> Ninos scored a 77 on a scale of 0 to 100 in the area of Quality Professional Development for the 2016-17 SY. As a result of the following considerations, Ninos will improve in the area of professional learning. Ninos has a PD plan in place for improving the school with agendas, presentations, PD presentations done by Admin or with the assistance of ISL. SQRP attainment and growth doc created with teachers, teachers collaborate during grade levels and through 1:1 meetings with Principal. Staff are evaluated both formally (Reach) and informally with feedback from admin.

Aligned Resources:

Resources (e.g. time, budget, staff, and community resources) are aligned to school priorities. Improving achievement guides resource allocation. Making the most of student time and staffing is a priority. The school organizes resources school-wide through schedules and staffing plans that target additional time and individual attention to those students who need it most and to highest priority subject areas.

Score

Curriculum:

The curriculum – what students should know and be able to do - makes standards come alive for students. All students have access to an academically rigorous curriculum that inspires students to think and contribute high quality work to authentic audiences beyond the classroom. The curriculum fully integrates academic and social emotional learning opportunities for all students, including diverse learners, English learners, and advanced learners. The school regularly examines the curriculum to check alignment to standards and opportunities for all students to meet those standards.

Score

This was the first in many years that Ninos Heroes had a common curriculum. Teachers expresses that they struggled with alignment to the Network 12 pacing map. They also expressed that the curriculum was difficult for them to implement because of the diverse needs of the students. For very few students, it appeared to provide appropriate task complexity, while for most of the other students the tasks required by Engage NY common curriculum, (at the students' current grade level) proved too complex. This was determined during grade level meetings, and ILT meetings, where teachers examined/ compared NWEA data, weekly assessments, mid-module assessment tasks, etc. We also examined the Network 12 pacing guides and the Learning Continuum and determined that we needed to pace our units appropriately. We shifted our instructional focus to prioritize small group instruction, based on identified need as indicated by NWEA data. According to the 5 Essentials Report, teachers reported strongly that the professional development that they receive is rigorous and focused on student learning (Quality of Professional Development 77%). Teachers attend Network professional development to enhance their knowledge sand practices in an effort to design curriculum that is challenging and engaging. According to our 5Essentials Report, Ambitious Instruction reflects a Neutral 57%. Of that, students responded feeling strongly about the interaction with course materials in both reading and math at 70% and 67% respectfully. However, according to the data for Academic Press (Neutral 44%) and Quality of Student Discussion (Neutral 48%), students, as well as teachers, indicate a need for more quality classroom discussions that build on critical thinking skills, as well as promotion of higher expectations for students to do their best and to meet adcademic demands.
We engage all learners in content areas and expose and extend opportunities for all students to grade appropriate levels of text complexity. We collaborate and share lesson plans and assessment data with all teachers who work with our students. DL teachers push-in (inclusion) for core subjects and all students work in groups and participate in whole-class discussions. Both homeroom and DL teachers team-teach and facilitate learning for all students. Together we reflect and refine the curriculum so it becomes more equitably accessible to our learners.

Guide for Curriculum

- - - Align units of instruction (horizontally/vertically) to scope and sequence maps and pace units and lessons appropriately.
    - Focus so units can be adequately addressed in the time available.
    - Examine formative data to determine mastery and pace. Discuss how much time it takes to adequately address the essential elements, and the viability of documents that articulate essential content and timing of delivery (e.g. pacing guides, curriculum maps).
  - Utilize the 'big ideas' that should be taught to determine whether students are being taught the body of knowledge, the understandings and the skills expected.
    - Identify the essential understandings – what students should learn in greater depth. In other words, know 'covering everything but learning nothing' does not work.
  - Expose and extend opportunities for all students to grade appropriate levels of text complexity in all types of texts, including informational in all content areas.
    - Articulate language goals that are separate from and support content goals. Literacy - reading, writing and speaking are essential 'learning tools' across the curriculum (disciplinary literacy).
  - Engage all learners in content areas by fully integrating opportunities for all learners, including:
    - Diverse learners to demonstrate core knowledge and skills.
    - English Learners to develop academic language to demonstrate mastery.
      - Use English and native language development standards in addition to content standards to differentiate instruction and assessments for English learners, to ensure meaningful access to content, regardless of English language proficiency.
      - Understand research and implement programs to develop native language literacy for English learners.
    - Advanced learners to extend core knowledge and skills.
  - Integrate academic and social emotional learning.
  - Connection to real world, authentic application of learning. For example,
    - Provide opportunities for meaningful project-based learning.
    - Integrate field-based learning through partnerships with city institutions (e.g. museums), colleges, universities, and community based organizations.
  - - Curriculum is culturally relevant/sustaining and provides opportunities to explore and celebrate students' communities, culture, history, and language.
    - Curriculum is tailored to the strengths, needs, and interests of each student.

Evidence, Measures, and Standards

Rigorous Student Tasks:

The school regularly examines student work - what students are being asked to do on in their classrooms - across grades or courses in all content areas. Examining the texts and tasks students experience provides the necessary insight to gauge rigor and illuminate how the standards are actualized prompting the question whether or not approaches support the true spirit of college and career readiness. (adapted from The Education Trust – Equity in Motion Series)

Score

According to the 5 Essentials Report, teachers reported feeling Neutral in the areas of Collaborative Practice (43%), Collective Pesponsibility (42%) and Teacher-Teacher Trust (46%). These results indicate a need for improvement. As a result, we examine lesson plans, assessments (exit slips, quizzes, tests, 5 week assessments, etc.) through deep dives, ILT meetings and grade-level meetings. We analyze these documents to determine appropriateness of rigor and alignment to N12 Pacing Guides in order to inform subsequent instruction. These practices that have been put into place build teacher-teacher trust, collective responsibility, and collaborative practices. The critera what we call "Look Fors" include instructional rigor, student engagement, quality of student work, focus, multi-tiered instructional tasks, task alignment, differentiation, addressing diverse learning styles and modalities, gradual release, re teaching and retesting (for student who do not achieve mastery), action plans, small group data binders. We will also deep dive into DIBELS, TRC, and MClass Math data in order to provide support to our K-2 teachers and students.

Guide for Rigorous Student Tasks

- Begin with the belief that all students can learn. (see Culture for Learning)
  - Convey high learning expectations for all students and develop structures that enable practice and perseverance for each individual student.
  - Create an environment where students assume responsibility for high-quality work by persevering, initiating improvements, addressing critiques, making revisions, adding detail and/or helping peers.
  - Communicate the necessity of attendance and engagement everyday in order to succeed.
- Plan and assign tasks that are cognitively challenging for individual students and require students to provide evidence of their reasoning.
  - Align tasks with standards-based learning objectives that reflect the depth of knowledge expectations.
  - Tasks are Integrative to draw on multiple standards.
  - Teach for Robust Understanding in Mathematics (TRU Math). Engage students with important mathematical ideas, not simply receiving knowledge, requiring students to engage in productive struggle.
- Tasks reflect the key shifts in literacy.
  - Complexity: Tasks reward close reading of complex text; Focus on comprehension of academic language, not obscure vocabulary.
  - Evidence: Cite evidence from text and write to sources, not decontextualized prompts.
  - Knowledge (non-fiction): Tasks embed reading and writing across disciplines with a variety of literary and informational complex texts and tasks and demonstrate comprehension through speaking, listening.
- Tasks reflect the key shifts in mathematics.
  - Focus: Tasks reflect a curricular and instructional focus on the major work in (e.g. operational fluency and number sense in K-2).
  - Coherence: Multi-grade progressions stress key beginnings (e.g. ratios in 6th grade) and key end points (e.g. fluency with multiplication in 3rd);
  - Rigor: Problems require construction of mathematical reasoning and critiques of other possible solutions.
- Provide opportunities for students to create authentic work for real audiences (beyond the teacher) to motivate them to meet standards and engage in critique and revision.
- Examine student work to identify and showcase the qualities of strategic thinking that are both rich in content and relevant for students.
  - Analyze models with students to build a vision of quality.
  - Use protocols to collectively reflect regularly on the level of cognitive demand asked of students across the school, particularly priority group students, to think strategically as speakers, listeners, readers, and writers.
  - Analyze student work samples as part of professional learning to best support students' attainment of quality work and standards.

Transitions, College & Career Access & Persistence:

The school creates pathways to success built on a vision in which all students leave secondary school with a clear plan for their initial postsecondary destination, whether in apprenticeship training, work, or college. All students have equal access to college preparatory curriculum to be successful. The school is characterized by structures for developing early postsecondary awareness and the knowledge and skills that lay the foundation for the academic rigor and social development necessary for college and career success. Students are equipped with the confidence in their ability to implement and adapt their plan throughout their lives as they and the world around them change. This vision sees students as the architects of their own lives.(adapted from Creating Pathways to Success, Ontario)

Instruction:

The teachers have finely honed instructional skills. They can shift from one approach to another as the situation demands by carefully monitoring the effect of their teaching on student learning. They seamlessly incorporate ideas and concepts from other parts of the curriculum into their explanations and activities. Their questions probe student thinking and serve to extend understanding. They promote the emergence of self-directed learners.

Balanced Assessment & Grading:

A balanced assessment system effectively measures the depth and breadth of student learning and monitors student progress towards college and career readiness. It also produces actionable data to inform planning for instruction, academic supports, and resource allocation. To meet these goals, a balanced assessment system must include multiple measures and be responsive to the needs of all students, including diverse learners and English learners.

> Through on-track data meetings and grade book checks teachers are starting to balance assessment and provide students with more academic supports thorough small groups and reteach opportunities

Guide for Balanced Assessment & Grading

- Use multiple measures (i.e. a range of assessment types and at multiple points in time) to supplement district-centralized assessments with other formative assessments to provide a more comprehensive picture of student learning.
- Use screening, diagnostic, and progress monitoring assessment to correctly identify specific gaps and monitor improvement, especially for students receiving Tier 2 and 3 services, in addition to Tier 1 core instruction. (also see MTSS and Instruction)
- Make assessments accessible to students, including diverse learners and English Learners through employing features of universal design and use of accommodations and, where needed, modifications.
  - Provide accommodations in presentation (i.e. how assessment text and tasks are presented to students), response (i.e. how students provide their answers), and/or setting/timing (i.e. scheduling/location of assessment).
- Utilize assessments that reflect the key shifts in literacy and mathematics in teacher created or selected assessments. (see Rigorous Student Tasks)
- Utilize assessments that measure the development of academic language for English learners.
- Have access to and analyze school-wide, teacher team, and classroom assessment data to determine instructional effectiveness and subsequent learning needs
- Improve and promote assessment literacy.
  - Work together on building common assessments within a department, course, or grade level team.
  - Invest resources in helping teachers evaluate and improve the quality of formative assessments. For example, use the Assessment Design Toolkit.
  - Use common protocols and calibrate on scoring and grading in teacher teams.
  - Analyze quality and alignment of assessments and tasks to ensure they meet the expectations of the standards and embed various levels of complexity.
- Have a grading system that clearly, accurately, consistently, and fairly communicates learning progress and achievement to students, families, postsecondary institutions, and prospective employers.
  - Ensure that students, families, teachers, counselors, advisors, and support specialists have the detailed information they need to make important decisions about a student's education.
  - Measure, report, and document student progress and proficiency:
    - Against a set of clearly defined cross-curricular and content-area standards and learning objectives collaboratively developed with staff.
    - Separately from work habits, character traits, and behaviors, so that educators, counselors, advisors, and support specialists can accurately determine the difference between learning needs and behavioral or work-habit needs. academic mindsets and behaviors (CCSR).
  - Ensure consistency and fairness in the assessment of learning, and assignment of scores and proficiency levels against the same learning standards, across students, teachers, assessments, learning experiences, content areas, and time.
  - Ensure grades are not used as a form of punishment, control, or compliance.

Multi-Tiered System of Supports:

The school is characterized by full implementation a system of academic and social emotional (SEL) supports for all students. Every day, in all classrooms, all teachers provide: Universal instruction in the core curriculum - academic & SEL (Tier 1) to all students; additional targeted academic and SEL supports (Tier 2) where needed; and deep and intense supports (Tier 3) based on individual and small group needs. The school also monitors On Track data (grades/GPA and attendance (ES), and course credits (HS)) to provide interventions/supports for students at risk for failure and/or truancy.

Culture for Learning:

A culture for learning is characterized by a school atmosphere that reflects the educational importance of the work undertaken by both students and staff. It describes the norms that govern the interactions among individuals about the mindsets (e.g. ability/confidence to grow with effort), academic behaviors (e.g. attending classes, completing assignments), the learning strategies and skills, the value of perseverance despite challenges and obstacles, and the general tone of the school. The classroom is characterized by high cognitive energy, by a sense that what is happening there is important, and that it is essential to "get it right." There are high expectations for all students. The classroom is a place where teachers and students value learning and hard work, and students take visible delight in accomplishing their work. Staff believe they can make a difference, that their hard work is the fundamental cause of student achievement, and are invested in student outcomes.

According to the results of the 5 Essentials Survey, psrticipants (students and staff) feel neutral about the school's culture and climate. There has been an increase in student attendance from last year's 91.3% to 94%.

Clear goals and expectations have been put into place and communicated to families. Not are only students encouraged to attend class regularly by staff, but are celebrated by peers. Incentives have been put into place by classroom teachers. School leaders have identified monthly incentives as well. Goals for NWEA and attendance are displayed throughout the building. Students complete individual goal-setting contracts with the classroom teachers, as well as, the principal. This allows for the communication of high-expectations, and accountability placed on students to persevere with a growth mindset.

Guide for Culture for Learning

- Create a culture that reflects a shared belief in the importance of learning and hard work.
  - Use strategies to reinforce and cultivate student curiosity.
  - Make learning goals relevant to students, and inspire students to stay committed to their learning goals.
  - Consistently communicate the expectation that all students can achieve at high levels.
  - Utilize strategies to encourage daily and timely attendance.
- Convey high learning expectations for all students and develop structures that enable practice and perseverance for each individual student.
  - Clearly display school-wide expectations for academic and personal success throughout the building.
  - Set high expectations according to grade-appropriate learning objectives.
  - Differentiate expectations so all students stretch to not only meet but exceed personal learning goals.
  - Recognize high levels of student achievement. All students receive recognition.
  - Encourage student resilience and hard work.
  - Ensure students feel safe to share misunderstandings and struggles.
- Encourage students to take ownership and pride in their work where students assume responsibility for high-quality work by persevering, initiating improvements, addressing critiques, making revisions, adding detail and/or helping peers.
  - Students self-assess (e.g. checking own work before giving to teacher) to develop a reflective habit of mind essential for improvement. This ensures students take responsibility for their own learning, focuses attention on criteria for success, and increases effort and persistence.
- Provide students frequent, informative feedback.
  - Tell/show students what they have done well (through positive reinforcement) and what they need to do to improve, including clarifying criteria and goals.
  - Give feedback on the task, the processes used to complete the task, and on the student's ability to self-regulate their own learning.
- Develop academic mindsets and behaviors.
  - Teach a growth mindset that over time with effort and practice, students can learn and succeed.
  - Encourage students' sense of belonging to the school and classroom community (see Relational Trust).
  - Employ strategies including ongoing monitoring and support of students' academic behaviors.
  - Praise effort and process. For example, "Good job, that must have taken a lot of effort" instead of, "Good job. You must be really smart."

Relational Trust:

The school is characterized by high levels of relational trust between all school participants - the "glue" or the essential element that coordinates and supports the processes essential to effective school improvement. Interactions, both between the teacher and students and among students, are highly respectful, reflecting genuine warmth and caring. Students contribute to high levels of civility. Interactions are sensitive to students as individuals, appropriate to the ages and development of individual students, and to the context of the class. The net result of interactions is that of academic and personal connections among students and adults.

Most staff have been at the school more than 7 years. However, at Ninos, we recognize that more effort is needed to build trust amongst all stakeholders in order to achieve effective school improvement. According to the 5 Essentials Survey, results indicate a feeling of neutrality when it comes to trust. In an effort to correct these measures, this current year staff has made countless "positive phone calls" to students' homes to celebrate student success. We also have adopted "Classroom Dojo" so that parents can obtain immediate feedback on student progress and to keep them updated on what is going on in the classroom.

In an effort to build and sustain relational trust, along with making parents feel welcomed, we've hosted several familial activities. These activities include, but are not limited to, "Family Literacy Night", "Daddy Daughter Dance", "Data Night" and a "Ninos Heroes Talent Showcase". We've also incorporated opportunities for student discourse with accountable talks throughout the disciplines. Students assume active roles in their daily interactions at school while working with one-another, which promotes a shared responsibility and recognition of the District's Student Code of Conduct (SCC) for guidelines for success.

We also recognize that, according to our 5 Essentials Report 2017, in terms of a supportive environment, our data indicates a 42% Neutral result (Peer Support 52%, Academic Personalism 38%, Safety 39%, Student-Teacher Trust 38%). With these results in mind, we implemented practices from our professional development trainings to create a more supportive environment. We now have adults in the building who occasionally check in on students. We have adopted mentoring programs, such as "Polished Pearls", "BAM" (Becoming a Man), and "Black Men Caring and Sharing".

Guide for Relational Trust

- Develop trusting relationships with students so each student has at least one trusted adult in the school.
  - Adults are responsible for occasional check-ins or serve as mentors.
- Adult-student interactions are positive, caring, and respectful.
  - Ensure a greater proportion of interactions are positive (as opposed to corrective) between staff and student consistently school-wide.
- Student interactions are mutually supportive and respectful, with strong norms for positive behavior.
  - Create opportunities for students to build positive relationships with peers.
  - Create opportunities for older students to mentor younger students.
- Understand diversity and its impact on student learning; recognize and integrate the learning opportunities that come from a diverse community.
  - Create opportunities for students to learn about the community they serve (e.g. culture and neighborhoods).
  - Have mutual respect for individual differences (e.g. gender, race, culture, etc.) at all levels of the school—student-student; adult-student; adult-adult and overall norms for tolerance.
  - Provide training to engage diverse families and communities.
- Support and respect one another, personally and professionally (Teacher-Teacher Trust, Teacher-Principal Trust)
  - Respect other teachers who take the lead in school improvement efforts.
  - Respect colleagues who are experts at their craft.
  - Exchanges are marked by genuinely listening to what each person has to say and by taking these views into account in subsequent actions. Even when people disagree, individuals can still feel valued if others respect their opinions.
  - Personal regard springs from a collective willingness to extend beyond the formal requirements of a job definition or a union contract (e.g. openness or reaching out to others).
- Utilize relationships as a means of deterring truant behavior brought on by unspoken hurdles a child may be facing.

According to the 5 Essentials Survey, 99.9% of the student population took the survey. The results indicate that students understand that their voices can be heard and their opinions matter. In an effort to sustain this belief, and improve teacher-student trust, we've included activities centered around student-choice. These include the incentives to increase achievement in attendance and academics. We included student volunteers as hosts and emcees during "Family Literacy Night", "Math Night", "Daddy Daughter Dance", the "Mother Son Dance", etc.

Students have access to extra-curricular activities that nurture talents and interests such as the after schoo dance club, mentoring programs, and sports programs. We also had the Talent Showcase as well as the "Ninos Heroes Schoolwide Spelling Bee". Our Open House, Parent-Teacher and student-led conferences provide opportunities for discourse with various stakeholders. Our technology labs, science labs, as well as library media center are hosts for inquiry, teaching, and interactive learning, as they are windows of equitable access to a wide variety of exploring and engagement opportunities.

During professional development and grade-level meetings, teachers have multiple opportunities to collaborate, reflect and refine their lesson plans. We review the results of the assessments, as well as the students' concerns that arise during implementation of project-based assignments, then discuss plans that will ensure sustainable accountability, engagement, interest and growth. This refinement arises from the need indicated by the results of the data obtained from the our 5 Essentials Report which reflects a 42% in the area of Providing a Supportive Environment. This includes a Neutral 52% for Peer Support for Academic Work, a weak 38% for Academic Personalism, a weak 38% in terms of Safety and another weak 38% in Student-Teacher Trust.

According to the 2016-2017 5 Essentials Survey, 39% of the students surveyed reported feeling physically and emotionally safe from harm, and that adults work to actively maintain a safe, orderly school environment. Only 39% reported feeling very safe in the bathrooms of the school, 50% reported feeling very safe in the hallways of the school, and 77% reported feeling safe in their classes.

Considering these results, we have made improvements by increasing the number of staff members present to monitor student movement before, during, and after school for dismissal and arrival, until the grounds are cleared. We adhere to the CPS Student Code of Conduct (SCC), MTSS, and targeted interventions to provide additional supports to students/families in adverse situations, to the extent that the school can assist. It is then we may provide referrals should the circumstances exceed our own resource availability. We have built a rapport with the officers of our nearby District Police Station who are actively involved here at Ninos Daily. Despite our efforts to make students feel safe in school, 14% reported not feeling safe outside around the school, 31% feel somewhat safe, 44% feel mostly safe and only 12% feel very safe. Traveling between home and school, 12% do not feel safe, 26% feel somewhat safe, 32% feel mostly safe, and 31% feel very safe.

Guide for Safety & Order

- Ensure students and adults feel physically, socially, intellectually, and emotionally safe throughout the school.
- Provide clear procedures for reporting and responding to safety concerns.
- Manage efficient and orderly transitions between activities.
  - Manage classroom routines and procedures to maximize instructional time.
  - Orchestrate the environment so students contribute to the management of classroom routines (e.g. transitions) without disruption of learning).
  - Arrival, dismissal, and other school-wide transitions are safe, efficient, and orderly.
- Provide a framework for positive behavior throughout the school based on shared values and expectations.
  - Have shared expectations for positive behavior. (See Restorative Approaches to Discipline)
- Teach, model, and reinforce (by all staff members) clear behavior expectations for all areas of the school.
  - All adults use active supervision (move, scan, and interact) in all settings.
- Have a voice and take informed action.

Restorative Approaches to Discipline:

The school is characterized by having and implementing policies and procedures that emphasize proactive, instructive, and restorative approaches minimizing punitive consequences. Discipline practices primarily focus on shaping behavior as opposed to punishing behavior. The school only uses out-of-school suspension as a last resort and utilizes a systems-change approach to bring about a more restorative culture. The school is also characterized by strong and consistent school and classroom climates. The school reinforces positive behaviors and responds to misbehaviors in calm, respectful, and thoughtful ways, teaching students important social and emotional skills that enable them to get along with others, make responsible decisions, and focus on learning. When misbehavior occurs, the school seeks to understand the underlying reasons (root cause) in order to design a response that effectively changes student behavior using a menu of instructive, corrective and restorative responses.

Staff had been selected to attend professional development in "Restorative Justice" as well as CHAMPS in an effort to become proactive instead of reactive. Teachers implement these practices as well as "Calm Classroom" and "Classroom Dojo" and other methods of communication with parents, as well as phone calls, texts, emails, face-to-face and student-led conferencing. Some hold students accountable for behavioral and academic expectations through contracts. Teachers communicate expectations and consequences through letters at the beginning of the and reminders throughout the school year. Many require parent and student signatures.

Expectations and consequences, as well as positive incentives can be seen throughout the building in the forms of posters, "Student of the Month" photos with captions, attendance charts, trophies, certificates, etc. Students celebrate successes by creating attendance songs, particularly to encourage improved attendance for truant students.

Standards were set in an effort to improve the reported "Number of out-of-school suspension rate of 15 per 100 students, 17.0% of misconducts resulting in out-of-school suspension rate, and average length of out-of-school suspensions. The transition to decrease out-of-school suspension by replacing some infractions with in-school detention or Saturday detention, reinforces the importance of regular attendance, while allowing students to complete all assignments, as well as promote corrective action.

Guide for Restorative Approaches to Discipline

- PROACTIVE - Reinforce positive student behavior with clear expectations, routines, and procedures.
  - A team meets regularly to organize systems that support a restorative environment.
  - Develop, reinforce, and model shared agreements and clear, positively stated expectations.
  - Well-managed routines and transitions maximize instructional time.
  - Engage families as partners.
  - Contact families frequently to inform them of positive student behavior and progress.
  - Vary acknowledgements and provide both short and long term opportunities for reinforcement for all students.
- INSTRUCTIVE - Integrate universal SEL skills instruction and core content.
  - Intentionally teach competencies outlined in SEL Standards. Use discipline as opportunity to teach these skills.
  - Use a Multi-tiered System of Supports (MTSS) for social, emotional, and behavioral growth.
    - Use data to determine which behaviors should be retaught or more heavily reinforced.
  - Explicitly teach expected behavior and positively reinforce consistently school-wide.
  - Avoid power struggles with students by offering choices. Redirect students privately and respectfully.
- RESTORATIVE - Employ a discipline system that guides students to take ownership, resolve conflict, and learn from their actions.
  - Support all staff to engage in restorative conversations and respond to behavior incidents in ways that de-escalate conflict, reteach expectations, build social & emotional skills, repair relationships, and cause minimal disruption to learning.
  - Support staff in understanding the impact of trauma on student behaviors and using trauma-sensitive approaches to discipline.
  - Identify clear disciplinary procedures for classroom-managed behaviors and office-managed behaviors. Develop a continuum of interventions and logical consequences that address the root cause of behavior and align to MTSS processes.
  - Ensure discipline systems minimize the use of punitive responses, including removing students from the classroom or school community.
  - Respond equitably to students in all subgroups. Implement processes that address and meet the needs of students who are impacted by behavior incidents.
  - Designate an administrator, such as a dean or restorative practices coordinator, responsible for leading centrally-managed response to behaviors using consistent, restorative processes.
  - Provide opportunities for students to take responsibility for repairing harm caused by their actions, generate solutions, and resolve conflicts with peers or staff.

Parent and Family Partnership:

All schools have authentic partnerships with parents or family members that lead to a sense of shared responsibility for the academic, physical, and social emotional development of their students. Through meaningful consultation with parents, these partnerships include creating an intentional process to foster and sustain school-wide procedures, programs, and activities which involve and empower parents or family members and are responsive to student and family's needs. Schools provide a variety of parent volunteer opportunities (both in and out of school) and leadership opportunities (ie - PACs, BACs and PLNs), which support school operations, instructional programs and community partnerships. Research shows that when families, schools and communities partner in promoting learning and healthy development for all students schools thrive and student outcomes increase. The development and implementation of effective outreach and communication strategies will be inclusive of all families and school staff, creating a two-way feedback loop process which will lead to an increase in the home-school connection to identify, problem-solve and design actions which target instructional and student programs.

> According to the 2017 School Progress Report, less than 30% of the Parent Population completed the 5 Essentials Survey. This data supports the trend that parents at Ninos Heroes are not involved, or interested, in curricular events. Because they do support extracurricular events, the team will convene to plan and host activities at the school to combine the two.

Guide for Parent and Family Partnership

- Establish a non-threatening, welcoming environment that is warm, inviting, and helpful.
- Provide frequent, high quality, well publicized opportunities for families and community to participate in authentic and engaging activities in the school community (e.g. student performances/ exhibitions, literacy or math events).
- Provide multiple opportunities for parents to ask questions, raise concerns, and give feedback.
  - Respond to families' concerns and requests for information professionally and in a timely manner, providing resources and solutions to address the concerns.
- Solicit the support and engagement of families as partners in the instructional program (e.g. volunteering, working at home with their child, involvement in class and school projects in and out of school, and parent workshops).
  - Host events for parents to share with other parents how home and school complement each other.
  - Share best practices around learning and development with parents to support students at home.
  - Inform parents of grade level standards and expectations and grading policies with a clear description of what meeting the standard looks like.
  - Inform parents of attendance expectations and the impact of attendance on a student's trajectory.
  - Assist parents to volunteer in the school and/or participate on teams/committees.
  - Promote the use of Parent Portal and Parent University to connect and engage parents with school.
- Frequently communicate with families about class and individual activities and individual student's progress.
  - Regularly inform parents of their child's progress across all relevant measures: attendance, discipline, academics, social-emotional learning, and health and wellness.
  - Send regular, positive, personalized communication from a staff member.
  - Use a variety of consistent communication methods (e.g. calls, text, newsletter, website, face to face) sensitive to cultural norms and needs.
- Conduct intensive outreach to families in need of specialized support through home visits and collaboration with social services agencies.
  - School responses to student excessive absences and/or tardiness includes outreach to families.
- Provide proactive communication (e.g. parent handbook and resources).
- Partner equitably with parents speaking languages other than English.
  - Information is provided to parents in their native language.
  - Parent meetings scheduled with interpreters present to facilitate participation.

Strategies

Strategy 1

If we do...	...then we see...	...which leads to...
Develop a school action plan starting building on current school years plan, incorporating data from 5E's and parent survey's, and action items for teacher professional growth, targeting school wide areas of weakness.	Increase in teacher professional practice(attendance, lesson plan submission, detailed planning through structured lesson plans, teacher buy-in and more uniformity.	School decisions been driven by the school's vision and mission, shared leadership throughout the staff in the building, strategic planning with student success in mind, and the implementation of coherent instruction.

Strategy 2

If we do...

Outline this summer as a team an action item calendar targeting monthly CPS action items, analyzing student data, analyzing rigor of student tasks, implementing cycles of professional learning for teachers and teacher teams, aligning instructional planning to Common Core standards and N12 pacing maps. Throughout the year the ILT will problem solve and action plan for any areas of weakness not limited to student success and teacher practice.
ILT team will continue weekly walkthroughs. Each walkthrough will address rigor, student tasks, teacher instructional strategies and effective classroom behavioral strategies.

...then we see...

Teacher team planing, student areas of weakness addressed, school wide action item plans

...which leads to...

Improvement in teacher practice, increase in student academic achievement. Continuous DDI cycles with targeted strategies for improvement, increase in teacher REACH evaluation components in the areas of proficient and distinguished.

Fund Compliance

Supplemental General State Aid(SGSA)

☑ My school receives SGSA funds

By checking the above box, the school is verifying that the attendance center complies with the statement regarding the use of SGSA funds:

1. The attendance center allocation is correctly based on the number of students eligible to receive free and reduced lunch and breakfast.
2. The attendance center has an approced plan, developed in consultation with teachers, administrators, and other appropriate personnel, and parents of thes tudents attending the attendance center.
3. The attendance center's plan is approved by the LSC and CPS.
4. ESSA Program

○ ESSA Schoolwide Program

(Not available to schools receiving NCLB funds for the first time) [Title 1/SW].

The school annually reviews the schoolwide plan/program. The schoolwide program plan is available to CPS, parents, and the public, and the information in the plan is in an understandable and uniform format, and to the extent practicable in a language the parents can understand.

◉ ESSA Targeted Assistance Program Title I funded staff participate in the school's general professional development and school planning activities. Title I funded staff assume limited duties that are assigned to similar personnel including duties beyond the classroom, or that do not benefit Title I students, as long as the amount of time spent on such duties is the same proportion of the total work time with respect to similar staff.

○ Non-title school that does not receive any Title funds

Parent Involvement in Targeted Assistance and Schoolwide Programs

☑ I verify that the statement below is correct

Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965 continues a legislative commitment to parental involvement. Central features of prior reauthorizations, such as school-parent compacts, parent involvement policies, and the parent involvement funding formula remain unaltered. However, the ESSA reauthorization represents a notable shift in the role of parental involvement in the schools. It includes new provisions increasing parental notification requirements, parental selection of educational options, and parental involvement in governance. It envisions parents as informed and empowered decision makers in their children's education.

Parent and Family Plan

Parent and Family Engagement Policy   Complete

The school will hold an annual meeting at a time convenient to parents and families during the first month of school to inform them of the school's participation in ESSA, Title I programs and to explain the Title I requirements and their right to be involved in the Title I programs. The school will also offer a number of additional parental and family engagement meetings, including school PAC meetings, at different times and will invite all parents and key family members of children participating in the ESSA, Title I program to these meetings, and encourage them to attend. Schools will provide parents timely notice when their child has been assigned to, or taught by, a teacher who is not "highly qualified," as defined in the Title I Final Regulations, for at least four (4) consecutive weeks. Please describe how this will be accomplished.

> Information will be sent home with students

Schools will assist parents of participating ESSA Title I children in understanding: the state's academic content standards; the state's student academic achievement standards; the state and local academic assessments including alternate assessments; the requirements of Title I, Part A; how to monitor their child's progress; and how to work with educators. Please describe how this will be accomplished.

> Parent workshop offered at the school

Schools will provide information, resources, materials and training, including literacy training and technology, as appropriate, to assist parents and family members in working with their children to improve their academic achievement, and to encourage increased parental involvement. Please describe how this will be accomplished.
