Curriculum:

The curriculum – what students should know and be able to do - makes standards come alive for students. All students have access to an academically rigorous curriculum that inspires students to think and contribute high quality work to authentic audiences beyond the classroom. The curriculum fully integrates academic and social emotional learning opportunities for all students, including diverse learners, English learners, and advanced learners. The school regularly examines the curriculum to check alignment to standards and opportunities for all students to meet those standards.

> Teachers are required to have Network 12 pacing guides for math and reading posted in the classroom. 100% of teachers (with the exception of cluster teachers) use the pacing guides as a tool for planning instruction. All teachers in grades 1-8 create and administer 5-week interim assessments in reading and math. During weekly grade level meetings teachers collaborate to analyze the assessments using the DOK model prior to administering them. Common core focused lesson plans are aligned between diverse learner teachers and gen Ed teachers. Teachers make modifications and accommodations to give diverse learners access to grade level appropriate content. Primary teachers use Second Step for social emotional learning.
> In Ambitious Instruction our rating was neutral. However, Academic Press was rated strong.
> Growth on MAP is above average in both reading and math. Attainment in grade 2 is below average in reading and math. In grades 3-8 it is average in reading and below average in math.

Guide for Curriculum

- Align units of instruction (horizontally/vertically) to scope and sequence maps and pace units and lessons appropriately.
  - Focus so units can be adequately addressed in the time available.
  - Examine formative data to determine mastery and pace. Discuss how much time it takes to adequately address the essential elements, and the viability of documents that articulate essential content and timing of delivery (e.g. pacing guides, curriculum maps).
- Utilize the 'big ideas' that should be taught to determine whether students are being taught the body of knowledge, the understandings and the skills expected.
  - Identify the essential understandings – what students should learn in greater depth. In other words, know 'covering everything but learning nothing' does not work.
- Expose and extend opportunities for all students to grade appropriate levels of text complexity in all types of texts, including informational in all content areas.
  - Articulate language goals that are separate from and support content goals. Literacy - reading, writing and speaking are essential 'learning tools' across the curriculum (disciplinary literacy).
- Engage all learners in content areas by fully integrating opportunities for all learners, including:
  - Diverse learners to demonstrate core knowledge and skills.
  - English Learners to develop academic language to demonstrate mastery.
    - Use English and native language development standards in addition to content standards to differentiate instruction and assessments for English learners, to ensure meaningful access to content, regardless of English language proficiency.
    - Understand research and implement programs to develop native language literacy for English learners.
  - Advanced learners to extend core knowledge and skills.
- Integrate academic and social emotional learning.
- Connection to real world, authentic application of learning. For example,
  - Provide opportunities for meaningful project-based learning.
  - Integrate field-based learning through partnerships with city institutions (e.g. museums), colleges, universities, and community based organizations.

- Curriculum is culturally relevant/sustaining and provides opportunities to explore and celebrate students' communities, culture, history, and language.
- Curriculum is tailored to the strengths, needs, and interests of each student.

Instruction:

The teachers have finely honed instructional skills. They can shift from one approach to another as the situation demands by carefully monitoring the effect of their teaching on student learning. They seamlessly incorporate ideas and concepts from other parts of the curriculum into their explanations and activities. Their questions probe student thinking and serve to extend understanding. They promote the emergence of self-directed learners.

Teachers' ratings on reach Framework for Teaching in Domain 3 are largely in the proficient and distinguished range. Teachers assess clearly defined objectives using exit slips, classroom assessments and common interim assessments. Teachers share interim assessment results and use common planning time to make instructional decisions.

By implementing lesson study as the school –wide problem of practice, teachers are able to engage in a form of long-term professional development in which teams of our teachers collaboratively plan, research, and study their math and ELA instruction as a way to determine how students' best learn.
As a result of teaching through problem solving, NWEA math attainment has increased from 20% to 38%, our math growth goals have increased from 54% to 60%. Our reading attainment has increased from 33% to 52%. In addition, our 5 essential rating has decreased from moderately organized to partially organized.

We also saw improved performance of teacher practice in reach Domain 3 results. Domain 3a-52% of teachers were rated distinguished, domain 3b, 55% of teachers were rated proficient, domain 3c, 76% of teachers were rated proficient, domain 3d, 72% of teachers were rated proficient, and in domain 3e, 69% of teachers were rated proficient.

Over the past four years our overall SQRP rating has increased from a level 3 to a level 1, an increase of 3 ratings.

Guide for Instruction

- Plan a range of effective pedagogical approaches suitable to student learning of the content/skills taught and anticipate student misconceptions.
- Effectively communicate with students.
    - Guide students to articulate the relevance of the objective(s) to learning.
    - Anticipate possible student misunderstanding.
    - Enable students to develop a conceptual understanding of content while making connections to their interests, knowledge, and experience.
    - Enable students to contribute to extending the content by explaining concepts to their classmates.
    - Build on students' language development and understanding of content.
    - Use vocabulary appropriately for students' ages and development. Students contribute to the correct use of academic vocabulary.
- Use questioning and discussion as techniques to deepen student understanding and challenge.
    - Use a variety of low- and high-level, open-ended, and developmentally appropriate questions to challenge students cognitively, advance high level thinking and discourse, and promote metacognition.
    - Use techniques that enable students to engage each other in authentic discussions about content. And, enable students to formulate their own questions and respectfully challenge one another using viable arguments based on evidence.
    - Encourage student responsibility for ensuring all voices are heard in the discourse and that all students are listening and responding to questions and answers from their teacher and peers.
    - Require students to cite textual evidence to support/develop a claim.
- Engage students in learning.
    - Scaffold instruction to ensure all students, including diverse learners and English Learners, access complex texts and engage in complex tasks.
    - Provide targeted supports to individual students or groups of students based on their identified needs.

Balanced Assessment & Grading:

A balanced assessment system effectively measures the depth and breadth of student learning and monitors student progress towards college and career readiness. It also produces actionable data to inform planning for instruction, academic supports, and resource allocation. To meet these goals, a balanced assessment system must include multiple measures and be responsive to the needs of all students, including diverse learners and English learners.

Score

1   2   3   4

> Assessments do not yet fully utilize universal design to meet the needs of diverse learners. We are developing a school-wide interim assessment, but the ILT does not yet have a system to evaluate the effectiveness of assessment for student achievement. Likewise, we have only begun to build our 5 week summative interims, but have not begun to evaluate our day to day assessments for rigor, alignment to standards, etc. Also, our grading system does not always clearly communicate to students and parents how their children are progressing toward college and career readiness and what specific areas they struggle. We do not have a universal screening system to identify tier 2 and tier 3 students. Teachers do collaborate to create and analyze common assessments.

Guide for Balanced Assessment & Grading

- Use multiple measures (i.e. a range of assessment types and at multiple points in time) to supplement district-centralized assessments with other formative assessments to provide a more comprehensive picture of student learning.
- Use screening, diagnostic, and progress monitoring assessment to correctly identify specific gaps and monitor improvement, especially for students receiving Tier 2 and 3 services, in addition to Tier 1 core instruction. (also see MTSS and Instruction)
- Make assessments accessible to students, including diverse learners and English Learners through employing features of universal design and use of accommodations and, where needed, modifications.
  - Provide accommodations in presentation (i.e. how assessment text and tasks are presented to students), response (i.e. how students provide their answers), and/or setting/timing (i.e. scheduling/location of assessment).
- Utilize assessments that reflect the key shifts in literacy and mathematics in teacher created or selected assessments. (see Rigorous Student Tasks)
- Utilize assessments that measure the development of academic language for English learners.
- Have access to and analyze school-wide, teacher team, and classroom assessment data to determine instructional effectiveness and subsequent learning needs
- Improve and promote assessment literacy.
  - Work together on building common assessments within a department, course, or grade level team.
  - Invest resources in helping teachers evaluate and improve the quality of formative assessments. For example, use the Assessment Design Toolkit.
  - Use common protocols and calibrate on scoring and grading in teacher teams.
  - Analyze quality and alignment of assessments and tasks to ensure they meet the expectations of the standards and embed various levels of complexity.
- Have a grading system that clearly, accurately, consistently, and fairly communicates learning progress and achievement to students, families, postsecondary institutions, and prospective employers.
  - Ensure that students, families, teachers, counselors, advisors, and support specialists have the detailed information they need to make important decisions about a student's education.
  - Measure, report, and document student progress and proficiency:
    - Against a set of clearly defined cross-curricular and content-area standards and learning objectives collaboratively developed with staff.
    - Separately from work habits, character traits, and behaviors, so that educators, counselors, advisors, and support specialists can accurately determine the difference between learning needs and behavioral or work-habit needs. academic mindsets and behaviors (CCSR).
  - Ensure consistency and fairness in the assessment of learning, and assignment of scores and proficiency levels against the same learning standards, across students, teachers, assessments, learning experiences, content areas, and time.
  - Ensure grades are not used as a form of punishment, control, or compliance.

Multi-Tiered System of Supports:

The school is characterized by full implementation a system of academic and social emotional (SEL) supports for all students. Every day, in all classrooms, all teachers provide: Universal instruction in the core curriculum - academic & SEL (Tier 1) to all students; additional targeted academic and SEL supports (Tier 2) where needed; and deep and intense supports (Tier 3) based on individual and small group needs. The school also monitors On Track data (grades/GPA and attendance (ES), and course credits (HS)) to provide interventions/supports for students at risk for failure and/or truancy.

Score

> Our attendance supports are more developed, but less so in academics. We don't currently track "On Track" (who's failing). We are not implementing PLPs. Students who are failing often continue to fail without adjustments being made to their instruction. We lack some supports and resources to support struggling students. We are also not fully utilizing all available resources. We don't currently have a system in which teams of teachers and related service providers work to effectively support tier 2 and 3 students.

Guide for Multi-Tiered System of Supports

- TIER 1 - Persist in adjusting instruction so individual student misunderstandings or advanced needs are successfully accommodated. (3e)
  - Intervene in a timely and effective way to help students who are struggling.
  - When formative assessments show a need for intervention or enrichment, teachers make effective impromptu adjustments that individualize instruction for students.
  - Use progress monitoring data to trace effectiveness of interventions and student response to intervention.
- TIER 1 - Customize the learning environment, pace, and approach of teaching and curriculum in order to meet each learners' individual needs ('Personalized Learning').
  - Empower student to advance their learning.
  - Use up-to-date individual student profiles that include strengths, needs, motivations, and outlines an individualized path to reach his/her goals.
  - Classrooms are student-centered with student agency.
  - Each student has the opportunity to advance upon demonstrating mastery.
- ON TRACK - Provide universal supports to prevent failing and absenteeism and targeted interventions for grades below "C" or chronic absenteeism. (On Track)
  - Identify students off track due to low attendance and poor course performance and provide intensive supports to address root causes of why students have low grades and poor attendance.
- TIER 2 & 3 - Collaborate and work as teams of teachers and Related Service Providers (RSP) to plan and monitor targeted student support with varied instructional strategies and SEL support of varying degrees of intensity for all students.
  - Monitor students requiring and receiving targeted and intensive instruction/interventions.
  - Use the Problem Solving Process to plan Tier 2 and 3 instruction/interventions.
  - Determine appropriate interventions for students or groups of students not making adequate progress.
  - Use progress monitoring data to track effectiveness of interventions and student response to intervention.
- TIER 2 & 3 – Implement Personal Learning Plans (PLP) goals and intervention strategies for students requiring school year supports as described in Elementary School Promotion Policy (Board Report 09-1028-PO2).
  - Ensure implementation of these plans, review subsequent 5 week data, determine the effectiveness of the strategies and adjust plans as needed.
- Communicate to parents/guardians the additional supports and/or interventions provided for their child to better align school and home environments.

Culture for Learning:

A culture for learning is characterized by a school atmosphere that reflects the educational importance of the work undertaken by both students and staff. It describes the norms that govern the interactions among individuals about the mindsets (e.g. ability/confidence to grow with effort), academic behaviors (e.g. attending classes, completing assignments), the learning strategies and skills, the value of perseverance despite challenges and obstacles, and the general tone of the school. The classroom is characterized by high cognitive energy, by a sense that what is happening there is important, and that it is essential to "get it right." There are high expectations for all students. The classroom is a place where teachers and students value learning and hard work, and students take visible delight in accomplishing their work. Staff believe they can make a difference, that their hard work is the fundamental cause of student achievement, and are invested in student outcomes.

> Most teachers provide students with timely feedback as evidenced by grade book. Also, teachers set goals for and with their students as it relates to NWEA and encourage students to reach those goals. Currently most students have not developed a reflective habit of mind for improvement. At this time, teachers have difficulty with differentiating expectations for all students. Our students are more focused on a "fixed mindset" rather than a "growth mindset". For example, once a student has been identified as a diverse learner they remain a diverse learner throughout their school years. We are approaching a score of three because many teachers and students do have a growth mindset and a shared belief in the importance of learning and of the work we do, as evidenced by the serious and rich conversations about student learning that happen at research lessons.

Guide for Culture for Learning

- Create a culture that reflects a shared belief in the importance of learning and hard work.
    - Use strategies to reinforce and cultivate student curiosity.
    - Make learning goals relevant to students, and inspire students to stay committed to their learning goals.
    - Consistently communicate the expectation that all students can achieve at high levels.
    - Utilize strategies to encourage daily and timely attendance.
- Convey high learning expectations for all students and develop structures that enable practice and perseverance for each individual student.
    - Clearly display school-wide expectations for academic and personal success throughout the building.
    - Set high expectations according to grade-appropriate learning objectives.
    - Differentiate expectations so all students stretch to not only meet but exceed personal learning goals.
    - Recognize high levels of student achievement. All students receive recognition.
    - Encourage student resilience and hard work.
    - Ensure students feel safe to share misunderstandings and struggles.
- Encourage students to take ownership and pride in their work where students assume responsibility for high-quality work by persevering, initiating improvements, addressing critiques, making revisions, adding detail and/or helping peers.
    - Students self-assess (e.g. checking own work before giving to teacher) to develop a reflective habit of mind essential for improvement. This ensures students take responsibility for their own learning, focuses attention on criteria for success, and increases effort and persistence.
- Provide students frequent, informative feedback.

- Tell/show students what they have done well (through positive reinforcement) and what they need to do to improve, including clarifying criteria and goals.
- Give feedback on the task, the processes used to complete the task, and on the student's ability to self-regulate their own learning.
- Develop academic mindsets and behaviors.
  - Teach a growth mindset that over time with effort and practice, students can learn and succeed.
  - Encourage students' sense of belonging to the school and classroom community (see Relational Trust).
  - Employ strategies including ongoing monitoring and support of students' academic behaviors.
  - Praise effort and process. For example, "Good job, that must have taken a lot of effort" instead of, "Good job. You must be really smart."

Relational Trust:

The school is characterized by high levels of relational trust between all school participants - the "glue" or the essential element that coordinates and supports the processes essential to effective school improvement. Interactions, both between the teacher and students and among students, are highly respectful, reflecting genuine warmth and caring. Students contribute to high levels of civility. Interactions are sensitive to students as individuals, appropriate to the ages and development of individual students, and to the context of the class. The net result of interactions is that of academic and personal connections among students and adults.

Score

1 2 3 4

> Our teacher to teacher trust was rated "neutral" on the 5 Essentials with 94% saying they agree or strongly agree that they trust each other. Currently, students do not have enough opportunities to build positive relationships with peers. Teacher-principal trust was rated neutral, with most teachers saying that they trust the principal at her word. Students are not as accepting of differences as we would like, for example, with SES or different learning abilities. Currently we do not do enough to build relationships and partnerships with people and organizations outside of our school. Most adult-student interactions are warm and positive.

Guide for Relational Trust

- Develop trusting relationships with students so each student has at least one trusted adult in the school.
  - Adults are responsible for occasional check-ins or serve as mentors.
- Adult-student interactions are positive, caring, and respectful.
  - Ensure a greater proportion of interactions are positive (as opposed to corrective) between staff and student consistently school-wide.
- Student interactions are mutually supportive and respectful, with strong norms for positive behavior.
  - Create opportunities for students to build positive relationships with peers.
  - Create opportunities for older students to mentor younger students.
- Understand diversity and its impact on student learning; recognize and integrate the learning opportunities that come from a diverse community.
  - Create opportunities for students to learn about the community they serve (e.g. culture and neighborhoods).
  - Have mutual respect for individual differences (e.g. gender, race, culture, etc.) at all levels of the school—student-student; adult-student; adult-adult and overall norms for tolerance.
  - Provide training to engage diverse families and communities.
- Support and respect one another, personally and professionally (Teacher-Teacher Trust, Teacher-Principal Trust)
  - Respect other teachers who take the lead in school improvement efforts.
  - Respect colleagues who are experts at their craft.
  - Exchanges are marked by genuinely listening to what each person has to say and by taking these views into account in subsequent actions. Even when people disagree, individuals can still feel valued if others respect their opinions.
  - Personal regard springs from a collective willingness to extend beyond the formal requirements of a job definition or a union contract (e.g. openness or reaching out to others).
- Utilize relationships as a means of deterring truant behavior brought on by unspoken hurdles a child may be facing.

Guide for Student Voice, Engagement, & Civic Life

Study politics

- Teachers teach about the structure and function of government as well as local, national, and international political structures and power dynamics.
- Teachers invite students to reflect on their own role in the political landscape, engage in analyses of power, and identify strategies they can use to utilize civic power as an individual and as a member of a community.
  - Become informed voters and participants in the electoral process
    - Students learn about the history and structures of the local and national voting process and ballot issues and candidates.
    - The school supports non-partisan engagement in all parts of the electoral process, including voter education, voter mobilization and registration.
    - There are a variety of school/classroom activities or simulations that support student voter preparation and participation in the electoral process.
  - Engage in discussions about current and controversial issues.
    - Students prepare for discussions, learn about issues that matter to them through deliberation, evaluate evidence from a range of sources, consider competing views, develop arguments, and deepen their viewpoints.
    - With teachers' support, students learn how to engage in and lead respectful and productive democratic discussions where everyone expresses their viewpoints, shares evidence, and listens to one another.
    - Teachers teach how to find different points of view online and instruct how to engage in respectful, informed, and productive online dialogue.
  - Explore their identities and beliefs
    - Teachers design learning experiences that enable students to explore how their identities influence their lived experiences and their perspectives.
    - Students are encouraged to learn about and understand the perspectives of those who have different identities and beliefs.
    - School staff reflect on their own identities and consider how that impacts their role and support of teaching and learning with youth.
  - Exercise student voice
    - Students can participate on multiple decision/policy making bodies and their perspectives are regularly included in decisions at their school.
    - Student Voice Committee represents the diversity of the school, addresses school-based issues, and regularly gathers input from their peers to inform and impact school policy and decisions.
    - Teachers respond to and integrate students' lived experiences, perspectives, and interests in class.
    - Authentically interact with civics leaders
    - Students learn about community, city, state, and national civic leaders and their roles in civil society.
    - School staff support engagement with civic leaders by inviting them into classrooms/the school and identifying face-to-face or online avenues for students to share their feedback and perspectives with civic leaders.
  - Engage with their community
    - Students complete at least 2 service learning projects before graduation in which they gain exposure to civic organizations, leaders, and careers. Students gain tools to work cooperatively in partnership with peers, community members, and organizations to advance a specific cause
- Take informed action where they work together to propose and advocate for solutions.
    - Students research and analyze issues that matter to them, identify root causes, develop a theory of action, determine relevant audiences, outline specific goals, implement a response, and reflect before, during and after experiences.
    - Students use social and digital platforms to raise awareness about issues, produce and circulate multimedia content, and mobilize involvement.
  - Experience a Schoolwide civics cultur
    - School leaders articulate a commitment to and vision for the importance of civic learning; students are civic leaders in the school.
    - Schools integrate civic learning across the curriculum, including projects that address relevant issues in their schools and communities.
    - School staff have professional development, collaboration time, and curriculum resources to infuse civic learning across disciplines.
    - Systems and structures exist where students are invited to participate in shaping school's policies, goals, instruction, and climate.

Safety & Order:

The school is characterized by high levels of safety and order. Students feel physically and emotionally safe from harm, and adults work to actively maintain a safe, orderly school environment.

> Our rating on student safety is weak. Nearly a quarter of students don't feel completely safe in hallways and washrooms. Our approaches to discipline are not fully restorative. Criteria for office referrals are not clear. Most teachers have effective routines and procedures in place for students as they transition within the school. Most staff teach, model and reinforce clear behavior expectations. However, support staff do not always practice active supervision. Support staff do not always use best practices for redirecting student behavior. (E.g collective punishment versus targeted consequences.)

Guide for Safety & Order

- Ensure students and adults feel physically, socially, intellectually, and emotionally safe throughout the school.
- Provide clear procedures for reporting and responding to safety concerns.
- Manage efficient and orderly transitions between activities.
  - Manage classroom routines and procedures to maximize instructional time.
  - Orchestrate the environment so students contribute to the management of classroom routines (e.g. transitions) without disruption of learning).
  - Arrival, dismissal, and other school-wide transitions are safe, efficient, and orderly.
- Provide a framework for positive behavior throughout the school based on shared values and expectations.
  - Have shared expectations for positive behavior. (See Restorative Approaches to Discipline)
- Teach, model, and reinforce (by all staff members) clear behavior expectations for all areas of the school.
  - All adults use active supervision (move, scan, and interact) in all settings.
- Have a voice and take informed action.
  - Students are included in key conversations about their learning experience and work with the principal and staff to identify issues and implement solutions. (e.g. student voice committee).
  - Students initiate and lead some school improvement initiatives.
  - Students participate in democratic decision-making at the school level.
  - Students identify and research issues of relevance and work together to propose/advocate for solutions.
- Emphasize proactive, instructive, and restorative approaches to student behavior and minimize punitive consequences through policies and procedures. (See Restorative Approaches to Discipline)
  - Adults correct misbehavior in ways that reinforce established expectations and cause minimal disruption to learning.
- Clarify criteria for office referrals versus classroom managed behavior.

Evidence, Measures, and Standards

Restorative Approaches to Discipline:

The school is characterized by having and implementing policies and procedures that emphasize proactive, instructive, and restorative approaches minimizing punitive consequences. Discipline practices primarily focus on shaping behavior as opposed to punishing behavior. The school only uses out-of-school suspension as a last resort and utilizes a systems-change approach to bring about a more restorative culture. The school is also characterized by strong and consistent school and classroom climates. The school reinforces positive behaviors and responds to misbehaviors in calm, respectful, and thoughtful ways, teaching students important social and emotional skills that enable them to get along with others, make responsible decisions, and focus on learning. When misbehavior occurs, the school seeks to understand the underlying reasons (root cause) in order to design a response that effectively changes student behavior using a menu of instructive, corrective and restorative responses.

> Most teachers use some form of positive rewards to recognize good behavior. Most reactions to misbehavior are calm and instructive. All teachers have a deliberate system to reinforce positive student behavior. We have not found an effective system to engage families and parents. Some programs we have used and some teachers still implement are morning meetings, calm classroom, PBIS, and some restorative practices. We do not have a consistent restorative justice system. We do not have a team to support students with SEL needs. We have not established a culture in which students take responsibility for harm they have caused. Some staff need additional support with strategies and skllls for supervising behavior.

Guide for Restorative Approaches to Discipline

- PROACTIVE - Reinforce positive student behavior with clear expectations, routines, and procedures.
  - A team meets regularly to organize systems that support a restorative environment.
  - Develop, reinforce, and model shared agreements and clear, positively stated expectations.
  - Well-managed routines and transitions maximize instructional time.
  - Engage families as partners.
  - Contact families frequently to inform them of positive student behavior and progress.
  - Vary acknowledgements and provide both short and long term opportunities for reinforcement for all students.
- INSTRUCTIVE - Integrate universal SEL skills instruction and core content.
  - Intentionally teach competencies outlined in SEL Standards. Use discipline as opportunity to teach these skills.
  - Use a Multi-tiered System of Supports (MTSS) for social, emotional, and behavioral growth.
    - Use data to determine which behaviors should be retaught or more heavily reinforced.
  - Explicitly teach expected behavior and positively reinforce consistently school-wide.
  - Avoid power struggles with students by offering choices. Redirect students privately and respectfully.
- RESTORATIVE - Employ a discipline system that guides students to take ownership, resolve conflict, and learn from their actions.
  - Support all staff to engage in restorative conversations and respond to behavior incidents in ways that de-escalate conflict, reteach expectations, build social & emotional skills, repair relationships, and cause minimal disruption to learning.

Parent and Family Partnership:

Score
1   2   3   4

All schools have authentic partnerships with parents or family members that lead to a sense of shared responsibility for the academic, physical, and social emotional development of their students. Through meaningful consultation with parents, these partnerships include creating an intentional process to foster and sustain school-wide procedures, programs, and activities which involve and empower parents or family members and are responsive to student and family's needs. Schools provide a variety of parent volunteer opportunities (both in and out of school) and leadership opportunities (ie - PACs, BACs and PLNs), which support school operations, instructional programs and community partnerships. Research shows that when families, schools and communities partner in promoting learning and healthy development for all students schools thrive and student outcomes increase. The development and implementation of effective outreach and communication strategies will be inclusive of all families and school staff, creating a two-way feedback loop process which will lead to an increase in the home-school connection to identify, problem-solve and design actions which target instructional and student programs.

We use a variety of outreach strategies for parents (parent portal, principal and teacher newsletters). LSC and PAC meetings are regular venues where parents can participate. The school is generally a non-threatening, welcoming, warm and inviting environment. Math and literacy nights are sporadic. We need more authentic and engaging activities in the school community (assemblies, Black history, math and literacy nights, Pi day). The Holding Circle runs weekly parent groups. Some parents assist in planning and carrying out events like Field Day. Parents have become more aware of attendance expectations. We promote the use of Parent Portal on report card days.

Guide for Parent and Family Partnership

- Establish a non-threatening, welcoming environment that is warm, inviting, and helpful.
- Provide frequent, high quality, well publicized opportunities for families and community to participate in authentic and engaging activities in the school community (e.g. student performances/ exhibitions, literacy or math events).
- Provide multiple opportunities for parents to ask questions, raise concerns, and give feedback.
  - Respond to families' concerns and requests for information professionally and in a timely manner, providing resources and solutions to address the concerns.
- Solicit the support and engagement of families as partners in the instructional program (e.g. volunteering, working at home with their child, involvement in class and school projects in and out of school, and parent workshops).
  - Host events for parents to share with other parents how home and school complement each other.
  - Share best practices around learning and development with parents to support students at home.
  - Inform parents of grade level standards and expectations and grading policies with a clear description of what meeting the standard looks like.
  - Inform parents of attendance expectations and the impact of attendance on a student's trajectory.
  - Assist parents to volunteer in the school and/or participate on teams/committees.
  - Promote the use of Parent Portal and Parent University to connect and engage parents with school.
- Frequently communicate with families about class and individual activities and individual student's progress.
  - Regularly inform parents of their child's progress across all relevant measures: attendance, discipline, academics, social-emotional learning, and health and wellness.
  - Send regular, positive, personalized communication from a staff member.
  - Use a variety of consistent communication methods (e.g. calls, text, newsletter, website, face to face) sensitive to cultural norms and needs.
- Conduct intensive outreach to families in need of specialized support through home visits and collaboration with social services agencies.
  - School responses to student excessive absences and/or tardiness includes outreach to families.
- Provide proactive communication (e.g. parent handbook and resources).
- Partner equitably with parents speaking languages other than English.
  - Information is provided to parents in their native language.
  - Parent meetings scheduled with interpreters present to facilitate participation.

Provide differentiated instruction to tier 2 and tier 3 students by fully implementing an MTSS system	A reduction in the number of tier 2 and 3 students.	Decrease in the percent of students who are off track and performing below grade level.

Strategy 2

If we do...	...then we see...	...which leads to...
Raise expectations for and recognition of academic excellence. Assemblies. Greater promotion and use of apps. Spelling bee. Monthly school focus (questioning, etc). Student of the month. Literacy night. Math night. Graduates coming back for panel discussion. College campus visits. Career days. Activities that convey to students the importance of the work we are doing now for their future. Daily question over the intercom, the classrooms that have the answer buzz the office. Teachers give students work packets to do when they are "done". History and science fair. Student work portfolios. Gallery walks. Students and teachers presenting their work publicly to a broader audience. School wide projects (e.g. pollution in nearby river, community issues, social justice issues.) Teachers, admin and students visit other schools that are successful.	Students are motivated and engaged in the learning process. They take ownership of the learning process. Enhancements in teacher learning, development and capacity. Support staff are more involved in academic support. Greater parental and community support and engagement.	Improving and advancing student learning. Increasing teacher satisfaction and retention. Increasing parent and student satisfaction and engagement.

If we do...	...then we see...	...which leads to...
Through grade level teacher planning and collaboration, develop a grade level diagnostic assessment for BOY and EOY. (The same assessment given twice.) Share EOY data with the next grade level.	A more balanced assessment and grading system. Teachers are better informed at BOY to target instruction to standards students have not mastered and to specific students who have not mastered them.	Improved student learning.

Supplemental General State Aid(SGSA)

☑ My school receives SGSA funds

By checking the above box, the school is verifying that the attendance center complies with the statement regarding the use of SGSA funds:

1. The attendance center allocation is correctly based on the number of students eligible to receive free and reduced lunch and breakfast.
2. The attendance center has an approced plan, developed in consultation with teachers, administrators, and other appropriate personnel, and parents of thes tudents attending the attendance center.
3. The attendance center's plan is approved by the LSC and CPS.

7. SGSA funds are not used for capital expenditures. 8. SGSA funds are not used for any political or lobbying activities by the attendance center.

ESSA Program

◉ ESSA Schoolwide Program

(Not available to schools receiving NCLB funds for the first time) [Title 1/SW].

The school annually reviews the schoolwide plan/program. The schoolwide program plan is available to CPS, parents, and the public, and the information in the plan is in an understandable and uniform format, and to the extent practicable in a language the parents can understand.

○ ESSA Targeted Assistance Program Title I funded staff participate in the school's general professional development and school planning activities. Title I funded staff assume limited duties that are assigned to similar personnel including duties beyond the classroom, or that do not benefit Title I students, as long as the amount of time spent on such duties is the same proportion of the total work time with respect to similar staff.

○ Non-title school that does not receive any Title funds

Parent Involvement in Targeted Assistance and Schoolwide Programs

☑ I verify that the statement below is correct

Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965 continues a legislative commitment to parental involvement. Central features of prior reauthorizations, such as school-parent compacts, parent involvement policies, and the parent involvement funding formula remain unaltered. However, the ESSA reauthorization represents a notable shift in the role of parental involvement in the schools. It includes new provisions increasing parental notification requirements, parental selection of educational options, and parental involvement in governance. It envisions parents as informed and empowered decision makers in their children's education.

Parent and Family Plan

Parent and Family Engagement Policy   Complete

Schools must involve parents and family in the joint development and periodic review and revision of the ESSA, Title I school parental and family engagement plan and policy, and in the process of school review and improvement. Please describe how this will be accomplished.

> Parents will be invited to attend monthly PAC (Parent Advisory Council) meetings and will have an opportunity to have input into the development of and periodic review of the NCLB, Title I school parental involvement plan and policy.

The school will hold an annual meeting at a time convenient to parents and families during the first month of school to inform them of the school's participation in ESSA, Title I programs and to explain the Title I requirements and their right to be involved in the Title I programs. The school will also offer a number of additional parental and family engagement meetings, including school PAC meetings, at different times and will invite all parents and key family members of children participating in the ESSA, Title I program to these meetings, and encourage them to attend. Please describe how this will be accomplished. Please list the projected date of your Title I Annual Meeting and your Title I PAC Organizational Meeting

> The school will hold its Annual Title I PAC meeting and PAC Organization meeting on September 27, 2018 where parents will be informed of the school's participation in NCLB, Title I programs, and their right to be involved in Title I programs. The PAC will host monthly meetings at the school and invite all parents to attend. Flyers will be sent home to inform parents of meetings at least a week in advance. Flyers and agendas will be posted at the schools main entrance in advance of the meetings. The principal will also include notification during weekly robo calls.

At the request of parents and family members, schools will provide opportunities for regular meetings, including the School Parent Advisory Council meetings, for parents and family members to formulate suggestions and to participate, as appropriate, in decisions about the education of their children. Please describe how the school will immediately respond to any such suggestions.

School administration will attend monthly PAC meetings where parents will have the opportunity to formulate suggestions and participate in decisions about the education of their children. School administration's attendance at the meetings will enable them to give immediate feedback or to respond at subsequent meetings to any such suggestions.

Schools will provide parents a report of their child's performance on the State assessment in at least math, language arts and reading. Please describe how this will be accomplished.

The school will send home individual NWEA and PARCC student performance reports as soon as they are available in early fall. Parents may also request this information from their child's teacher or administration.

The school will send home letters informing parents when at any time their child is taught by a teacher who is not qualified for four weeks..

Schools will assist parents of participating ESSA Title I children in understanding: the state's academic content standards; the state's student academic achievement standards; the state and local academic assessments including alternate assessments; the requirements of Title I, Part A; how to monitor their child's progress; and how to work with educators. Please describe how this will be accomplished.

The school will host Open House/Curriculum Night on September 27, 2018 where parents will get information regarding the curriculum and assessment tools, including state assessments. Parents will receive letters at the beginning, middle, and end of year outlining students progress on a variety of interim assessments. The school will host parent workshops to help inform parents on how to best support their children at home. The principal will also conduct two (2) State of the School Addresses to ensure parents understand the state's academic content standards, the state's student academic achievement standards, and the state and local academic assessments including alternate assessments.

Schools will provide information, resources, materials and training, including literacy training and technology, as appropriate, to assist parents and family members in working with their children to improve their academic achievement, and to encourage increased parental involvement.
