Mission Statement as of May 2013

Jordan Community School strives to educate the whole-child through a balanced curriculum emphasizing Literacy, Math, Science, and Best Practice instruction for diverse learners. We enrich our multicultural community of faculty, students, and parents through: The Comer child development model, collaborative partnerships/volunteer efforts, and ongoing professional development.

School Priorities as of May 2013

Description	Rationale
Literacy	We chose Literacy as a priority because we had 21.1% of our students grade 3-5 on grade level and 19.1% on grade level in 6-8 on the Scantron test in SY2011. Our scores are clearly below city/district/state averages. Our Theory of Action focused on increasing rigor and relevance across the curriculum, but specifically literacy.
Common Core Curriculum Planning, Development and Implementation	We will be held accountable to the CCSS beginning in the SY2013-2014 and want to prepare our students and staff for what will be expected in the areas of teaching and learning.
Collaboration (Student-Student, Teacher-Teacher, School-Community)	In our School Report Card, 15% of teachers feel that they work well together and strive for excellence. 31% of the school community feel that the school partners with families and communities and 52% of parents report feeling engaged with their school.
Culture and Climate	We believe that culture and climate have a huge impact on instruction and learning. Student behavior has been reported as a concern by teachers. 61% of students feel safe and 57% feel it is safe, demanding, and supportive. 51% of parents report feeling satisfied with the school environment.
